Practical Group Assignment 1

Section A: Pitching an Idea for an Esports Event

Introduction

In this unit, you will use your existing knowledge to create a plan/pitch for an esports event aimed at Grade 12 pupils (see scenario below).

Your selected esports event will be carefully planned, demonstrating your ability to consider the factors that make an esports event successful and draw these together into a plan for the event. You will use presentation skills to pitch the plan to an audience (your lecturer in this case).

Learning aim

In this section of the assignment, you will:

Plan, design and deliver a pitch for an esports event by means of a PowerPoint presentation.

Scenario

As part of your work integrated learning in a secondary school, you have been asked by your placement supervisor to plan an esports event for Grade 12 pupils who traditionally don't take part in team sports. The school is considering whether to introduce a new esports club or a more traditional sports club to engage these pupils; to decide this, they would like to run an esports event to receive feedback from the pupils. You will need to pitch your event idea against another student group that is also doing work integrated learning so that your placement supervisor can decide which event will be the most beneficial for the pupils in the school.

Section A should address the following aspects:

As per the scenario above, plan your esports event for Grade 12 pupils at a school of your choice by creating a PowerPoint presentation (30 marks – 3 points per aspect) that includes the following aspects:

- a) Name of your event
- b) What is esports? (To introduce the concept to the school and pupils)
- c) Aim (what do you want to achieve) and objectives (steps of how you're going to achieve the aim)
- d) Event type and format
- e) Budget (R500 000 – PLEASE STICK TO THIS BUDGET AMOUNT AND GIVE A DETAILED BREAKDOWN OF HOW THE ENTIRE AMOUNT WILL BE SPENT)
- f) Health and Safety considerations
- g) Venue
- h) Resources required (computers, projectors etc)
- i) Promotional material (flyers, banners)
- j) Merchandise (T-shirts, caps, hoodies etc)

Essential resources

For this section of the assignment, you may access / reference:

- Streaming platforms e.g.: Twitch, YouTube, and Facebook Gaming focused on tournaments
- Specific websites linked to esports covering/focusing on esports events

Section B: Creating and advertising an eSports event

Introduction

Working events in esports is one of the most exciting career pathways in the esports industry. In this section of the assignment, you will investigate successful events and use this research to create advertisements for your esports event.

Your selected esports event will need to be advertised to the general public, informing them of upcoming tournaments for two popular esports titles!

Learning aim

In this section of the assignment, you will:

Create an advertisement campaign for CUT's annual CUT Gaming LAN event for 2026

Scenario

After your success at hosting your first esports event at your local school for Grade 12 learners, the Central University of Technology has reached out to you to plan its annual "CUT Gaming" LAN event. Two game tournaments will be offered to the public to compete with prizes available from ASUS, MSI and Incredible Connection. To generate buzz and excitement for the event, you must create two poster advertisements OR two video advertisements, advertising the event on behalf of CUT.

Section B should address the following aspects:

Part 1 – Advertisements (20 marks – 10 marks per advertisement)

Your advertisement must include the following information:

- a) Games that will be played: Rocket League (3 vs 3) and EA Sports FC26 (1 vs 1).
- b) Tournament type, e.g., LAN (RL) / FC 26 (console – Xbox Series X / PS 5, etc)
- c) Event format (for both games)
- d) Number of teams (RL) that can register / Number of players (FC26) that can register
- e) When is the event scheduled and where? (Dates, including where...which labs/hall, etc.)
- f) Prizes to be won (for example graphics cards, keyboards/headsets, hampers, etc.)

You can create either two advertisement posters (using PowerPoint – 1 advert per game) and convert them into PDFs, OR you can create two advertisement videos (1 video advert per game – video length per game, should be a minimum of 60 seconds, but no longer than 120 seconds) to advertise your event, the choice is up to you guys and girls as a group.

As long as the info listed above is part of the advertisement for each game advert, then it's all good. People, please make your advertisements interesting with graphics, images, sounds, etc. I don't want a boring, plain-text poster/video. Make it flashy and be creative. Who knows, I might even ask one of you guys to design the next CUT Gaming event in 2026's ads and promo videos, so give it your best shot!

Part 2 – Tournament schedules (10 marks – 5 marks per schedule)

Along with your advertisement, please also submit schedules of both games of how your tournament will be run for each title. Include time slots (starting and finishing times), lunch breaks, etc. Also compensate for potential issues (server problems), controller issues, etc, when estimating your times. Don't just say, we'll start at 8:00 am and finish by 17:00 pm. Be specific as to when your group stages begin, your playoff stage and in closing, your grand finale, photo opportunity of prize giving, etc. Look for existing tournaments on the internet to help you set up your schedule effectively. You can submit your schedules on a separate MS Word or MS Excel document. Please use a table to organize your time schedules and make it look professional and clean.

Submission details

You are allowed to work in a group of a minimum of 2 students, but no more than a maximum of 5 students per group, please.

Only ONE student of the group must submit the assignment, therefore, please include the following details on the starting slide of the presentation: student numbers along with the initials and surname of ALL group members.

Section A submission requirements:

Section A must be at MINIMUM, 10 slides (excluding starting slide), but NOT exceed more than 15 slides, covering all aspects outlined from a) to j). Failure to comply with these requirements will result in penalties (mark deductions).

Working as a group, please come up with a new name for your event make it unique and plan it to your liking. Be creative, feel free to include graphics, pictures, and audio. I don't want 10 – 15 slides with just text, as that is NOT what this assignment is about (which will also cause you to lose marks – if it's only text).

Section B submission requirements:

Section B must INCLUDE 2 slides; 1 advertisement slide for each game tournament (excluding starting slide with group member information) OR TWO advertisement videos (1 video per game tournament).

If you make videos, remember to include group member details as part of the video as well. Failure to comply with these requirements will result in penalties (mark deductions).

Both Section A and Section B submissions will be subjected to plagiarism and AI detection checking.

If plagiarism and or the use of AI is detected in your submissions, you will receive a mark of zero (0) for your assignment – therefore submit your own original work please!

The assignment is due on Friday, 4 September 2026 at midnight (23:59).
